SEATTLE, WASHINGTON - APRIL 8, 1996

1-3

THE COURT: Mr. Schneider, we have here an interlocutory appeal from the denial of preliminary injunctions.

MR. SCHNEIDER: We do, Your Honor.

THE COURT: And, uh, the District Court, uh, remanded the matter to the IBLN.

MR. SCHNEIDER: Correct, Your Honor. IBLA.

THE COURT: IBLA, excuse me. And, uh, Mr. Stratman did not appeal, why isn't this appeal moot?

MR. SCHNEIDER: It -- well, let me begin by saying that the question to move was sprung on us Friday, Your Honor, but let me attempt to address it. Jurisdiction is sitting somewhat like a pie. The Trial Court clearly retained jurisdiction of a number of issues in this case. One of the reasons that the matter isn't moot is that the District Court doesn't believe that it transferred the entirety of the matter to IBLA. Leisnoi doesn't believe that, neither does anyone else. Leisnoi's argument in its brief, as an example, it's 28 USC Section 1166, Statute of Limitations argument has not been addressed by the Trial Court. The matters before the Trial Court have been stayed by multiple orders beginning this spring, so that this matter has been -- hh-has been, I guess, carved up a bit, and one of the pieces of it has been approp -- appropriately, we would argue, sent to the administrative agency. But the....

THE COURT: You mean the District Court has retained some of this case?

MR. SCHNEIDER: It has.

THE COURT: What -- what part?

MR. SCHNEIDER: Well, if Your Honor looks at the record, you will see that in the spring of this year when the case got cranked up again, after it was re-opened by this Court, there was a -- a status conference, and the parties were asked to set forth in a laundry list the issues that were to be retained and to remain in the case. Of those, the Trial Court, then Judge Von Der Hegdt (ph) identified five threshold issues. Now, these were threshold issues, these were not all of the issues, and specifically, Leisnoi's -- Leisnoi's favorite defense is it's 20 to -- it's 43 I believe it is, USC Section 1166 defense was not among the threshold matters. All other motions were stayed by -there were or two or three orders, each of which const -contained stays of the other proceedings. The Trial Court then resolved the threshold issues, in our favor, with the exception of two, which it pitched to IBLA. And, we are now on our way to IBLA, to determine the merits of Mr. Stratman's challenge to Leisnoi's certification. But, the Trial Court, and I must concede, its last order does not specifically say it retained anything, but the Trial Court has retained jurisdiction of those issues. Secondly, we have cases in our brief, and I must confess, I'm not gonna be able to tell you exactly which ones they are, though I might be able to get some help from my table, that suggest that because there is an ongoing harm here and in our — an ongoing harm to the very interests that we advocate that this Court has continuing jurisdiction in the matter, even the face — even in the face of the agency action. So I guess our positions are this Court would have jurisdiction no matter what in this specific ergo-factual setting only part of this c—case has remanded to IBLA. For instance, there's no.....

THE COURT: Well — just — excuse me. It's a simplistic question. Forgive me but this is my — the case — I'm looking at Judge Singleton's (ph) remand decision of the Court.

MR. SCHNEIDER: Yes.

THE COURT: And it has case number A76-0132CV.

MR. SCHNEIDER: Yes.

THE COURT: Which indicates Singleton.

MR. SCHNEIDER: It does.

THE COURT: Is that the same case that's before us today?

MR. SCHNEIDER: That is -- yes it is.

THE COURT: Okay. And it says decision — this action came to trial for a hearing before The Court, the issues have been tried or heard, and a decision has been rendered. It is ordered and judged that, judgement is hereby entered remanding this case to IBLA, this case being that number, is it not? How do we get beyond that?

MR. SCHNEIDER: Well, I think that before we get beyond it 1 we should go just a bit ahead of it and see The Court's 2 memorandum orders that proceeded it to understand it.
  3
            THE COURT: But, he sent the whole case back to the a -- 4
  5 agency.
            MR. SCHNEIDER: Forgive me, Your Honor. б 7
            THE COURT: The whole case went back to the agency.
  8
            MR. SCHNEIDER: I would -- Judge, I can't agree with that, I don't believe that's what happened, I don't think it's The 9
       Court's intent -- The Court's intention, and finally, if it 10
       is....
            THE COURT: Mr. -- I beg -- you hear -- how many hours -- 12 what is it Alaska time versus here, aren't they two hours?
13
14
            MR. SCHNEIDER: One hour.
15
            THE COURT: One hour.
16
           MR. SCHNEIDER: One hour earlier.
           THE COURT: All you folks came down from....
17
           MR. SCHNEIDER: I came from Anchorage -- I don't know where 18
      these guys came from.
           THE COURT: I was just trying to -- I think if we could 20 clarify this we -- I -- I.
21
22
           THE COURT: Judge -- Judge Singleton could clear this up in 23
      a minute.
24
           MR. SCHNEIDER:
                           There were many of these people -- these people were last seen in Anchorage, Your Honor.

  1
       (Laughter)
            THE COURT: All right, Judge Single can clear -- Singleton
 2
       can clear it up in a minute, I suppose.
            MR. SCHNEIDER:
 4
                            I would -- I'd love to have....
            THE COURT: Uh, let -- let's -- let's say it had -- had a 5 situation, this speaking generally where there is a -- a -- a -- б um, say a denial of a preliminary injunction, the matter comes up 7
       on interlocutory appeal, in the meantime a Trial Court decides 8
       the case on the merits, and issues a permanent injunction. Now, 9
      doesn't that -- doesn't that moot out the interlocutory appeal?
10
           MR. SCHNEIDER: Sure, it does.
11
12
           THE COURT: So what's the difference?
13
           MR. SCHNEIDER:
                            That's not our facts.
           THE COURT: What's the difference between those facts and 14
15 these?
16
           MR. SCHNEIDER:
                           Well....
           THE COURT: Here -- here an action was up on appeal -- now, 17 did you notify us that, uh -- that, uh -- that, uh, the matter 18 was on appeal at, uh -- that, uh Judge Singleton was conducting 19
      a hearing in this matter -- a trial on the merits?
20 21
           MR. SCHNEIDER: We -- we notified The Court and attempted to supplement the record with post....
22
23
           THE COURT: So here -- here it's up on appeal. It could have been Judge Singleton still has it, of course....
24
25
           MR. SCHNEIDER: Yes.

1-8 1 THE COURT: It's apparently an interlocutory appeal, and 2 then -- then the case is decided. 3 MR. SCHNEIDER: But, it's not decided. THE COURT: And it goes back to the administrative agency. 4 5 See, what I got in mind was -- with this modern technology, we could certify the question. 6 This panel could certify a question to Judge Singleton. "Did you intend it to 7 8 remand the entire case, or retain part of it?". Get his response today, and set your argument for 8:30 in the morning without 9 discussing your -- the expense of coming down here. I think the 10 panel would be agreeable to something like that. 11 (Whispered conversation at the Bench) 12 13 THE COURT: Is that all right? That at least could clarify the waters only instead of sitting here trying to guess what the 14 15 Judge had in mind. If you're right, that's -- then we can have at it. If you're wrong, why that takes care of that too. Okay. 16 MR. SCHNEIDER: If that's the ruling of The Court, we will 17 be here at 8:30 in the morning. 18 19 THE COURT: That's okay. 20 THE COURT: That's fine. 21 THE COURT: Great. 22 THE COURT: We can do that. 23 (Whispered conversation at Bench) 24 THE COURT: Now, look -- look, Judge Tashima made a good suggestion. We'll hear from the other side for a moment, but --25

25

1-9 1 and then we can call we can and Judge 2 Singleton.... 3 MR. SCHNEIDER: Very good. 4 THE COURT: I'll ask. Vivian. 5 VIVIAN: Yes. 6 THE COURT: You want to go call and see if Judge Singleton 7 is in Anchorage? 8 VIVIAN: Judge Singleton. 9 THE COURT: See if Judge Singleton is in Anchorage. 10 VIVIAN: Oh, okay. 11 THE COURT: Okay, thanks. 12 MR. KLEIN: May it please The Court, Your Honor. Jonathan Klein from the Justice Department on behalf of the Secretary. 13 (Cough). I'll go right to the question that's, uh, concerning 14 15 The Court. We don't believe it's necessary to certify the 16 question for these two reasons. Um, because -- first of all, 17 importantly, this Court reviews judgements 18 decisions. The subjective intent of Judge Singleton the hope that we would suggest very strongly that he remanded the whole 19 case is of no import, simply because the judgement -- this is a 20 judgement, this wasn't an order and a limited remand. 21 says "Decision of The Court, ordered and adjudged that judgement 22 is hereby entered remanding this case to IBLA". Courts are very 23 capable of fashioning limited remand orders for pur -- specific purposes, and Courts -- District Courts all the time will say

"this matter ordered — this is remanded to the IBLA for the limited purpose of determining whether Leisnoi is a eligible village". Another reason why that's not necessary is because at footnote eight of, uh, Stratman's reply brief they concede that the case has been remanded, the whole case, and that a new action would be necessary to challenge.....

THE COURT: Give me the citation again?

MR. KLEIN: That's page 12 of Stratman's reply brief, footnote eight, and I'll just read from it.

THE COURT: Yeah, read it.

MR. KLEIN: It says, uh, this is the second paragraph. says, "In addition, because the District Court has remanded the matter to the Department of the Interior for a new determination of Leisnoi's eligibility the agency proceedings are still in fiere", I don't know what that means, "and will result in a new agency decision subject to new judicial review. Application of the rote regulation in the remanded proceedings will subject it to a new challenge in Court. No in....". I mean that's as clear as day that they think they're gonna have to file a new, uh, APA Challenge, and that's a concession that this matter -this case, has been remanded and judgement, which is, you know, black letter law, judgements control and not the subjective intent of the District Court Judge, and, uh, so, we will -unless you want to hear from someone else on our side, that's....

THE COURT: Anyone else wish to be heard? (Pause)

If it please The Court, Edgar Paul Boyko on MR. BOYKO: behalf of Leisnoi, Incorporated, the real party in interest here because we're the one's that are supposed to be the target of this broad and sweeping preliminary injunction effort. I will only address at this point the -- the issue of whether this -- the matter is now appropriately before this Court, or whether there has been issued a final judgement, uh, which ends it until it is revived by some proceeding. Our position is that -- and -- and we base this on, uh, to some extent on the same grounds that Stratman's Counsel does, except we wish a different result. He says "look at the earlier decisions of the same Judge and the same case before he entered this judgement". Stratman asked The Court to review a number of issues, such as the validity of the regulation under which Leisnoi might alternatively qualify, and Judge Singleton declined to rule on that. He said, "I'm sending it all to the agency. We'll start from scratch. This case has been around too long, you've been up to Ninth Circuit twice, I don't want this to happen again by making a ruling that you can appeal again. Send it all back to the -- to the agency let them start where they should have started 20 years ago".

THE COURT: So it's -- it's your understanding the entire case has gone back to the IBLA?

MR. BOYKO: That's -- that is my interpretation, Your Honor, of what Judge Singleton's intent....

25

1-12

2 THE COURT: But as far as you know, are there any further proceedings scheduled in District Court.... 3 4 MR. BOYKO: No. 5 .....In this case at this time? THE COURT: MR. BOYKO: And as a matter of fact Mr. -- Mr. Stratman's 6 attorney tried to have supplementary proceedings by a petition 7 for judicial assistance or some exotic ruling of -- the Judge 8 9 just rejected it. 10 THE COURT: So, as far as you know, there is nothing pending 11 in District Court? 12 MR. BOYKO: That is correct. And there is no action -- of course, initially the action never prayed for a permanent 13 14 injunction, the complaint never did. So, there is no -- uh, uh, there couldn't have been a permanent injunction issued, even --15 uh, uh, uh, even if it had been appropriate, because there was no 16 17 prayer for it. THE COURT: When I say nothing pending, I said there is no 18 19 proceeding scheduled. 20 MR. BOYKO: No. Nothing -- that I know of, and I can 21 represent that with confidence. THE COURT: So, the bottom line is that, uh, your position 22 is that this entire case has been sent back to the IBLA? 23 24 MR. BOYKO: I think if you -- if you looked at -- first of all, I agree with Counsel for the government -- or for the 25

Secretary, that on the face of the judgement that's clear. But, if you look at the record, and you look at what Judge Singleton said on several occasions, he was not about to try to have this case again decided piecemeal and have interim appeals, and interlocutory appeals and go up and down. He says, "Let's send it all to the agency, that's where it should have been in the first place. And then, let's let's start from there, and bring all these arguments to the agency". That's our position.
THE COURT: Yeah.

MR. BOYKO: There's any other -- there's no -- no other questions?

THE COURT: Have you got the -- have -- have you got the, uh, transcript, of that statement....

MR. BOYKO: There -- there are rulings, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Rulings.

MR. BOYKO: Denying, uh, specific requests by the, uh, appellant for decisions by The Court on various issues. And The Court said, "No" -- Do we have that transcript, if I may?

(Whispered conversation)

MR. BOYKO: Your Honor, this was an — an order from chambers issued by Judge Singleton and filed on May the 21st, 1995. "There are two pending motions, the pendency of which prevent remand of this case in conformity with the order of Docket Number 292 and 298. Docket Numbers 295 and 300, see also Docket Numbers 302-08. Docket Number 300, Koniag, Incorporate, seeks certification for immediate appeal. See 28 USC 1292. Stratman requests a status conference, but actually wishes to reargue his position that this Court should not remand certain issues to the agency, but rather should resolve them here. Docket #295. It is unfortunate that a case with a 1976 Docket Number is still pending. Stratman fears that agency action, like a tree to be grown from a seed, takes much time. This Court agrees. We had best plant the seed so that the tree can begin to grow".

THE COURT: We have, sir, we have them.

MR. BOYKO: Yes.

THE COURT: They've been submitted to us, and we've read that.

MR. BOYKO: Yes. Well, that's what I was referring to, Judge Pregerson, when I said, the record shows that Judge Singleton didn't want to keep pieces of this, but wanted to send it all back to the agency.

THE COURT: We've heard it.

MR. BOYKO: It makes sense, doesn't it. Because the history of this case has been precisely because of the piecemeal way in which it was treated is up and down and takes a lot of this Court's time, and there are a lot of conflicting signals being sent to The Court.

THE COURT: Thanks very much.

MR. BOYKO: Thank you, Your Honor.

23

25

1 THE COURT: All right, Mr. Schneider. 2 Judge -- Singleton could not have sent to MR. SCHNEIDER: 3 the agency the question of what to do. 4 THE COURT: Uh -- You don't refer to him as Singleton do 5 you, when you say it? 6 MR. SCHNEIDER: Judge Singleton. 7 THE COURT: Yeah. Okay, go ahead. Restate that. 8 MR. SCHNEIDER: Judge -- uh, yeah. I said Judge, believe 9 Judge Singleton could not have referred to me. 10 administrative agency the question raised in our complaint here of what do you do once Leisnoi is found to be de-certified (sic). 11 12 I mean, that's a huge part of this case that the administrative 13 agency has no statutory or regulatory authority to do a thing 14 They simply make the findings, does this round peg, in 15 this case, squit (sic) -- fit in this square hole? Then it comes 16 back to Judge Singleton to determine what the consequences of 17 that are, and a number of Leisnoi's defenses. 18 THE COURT: But -- but at this point that's only a hypothetical question, because you don't know what the IBLA's 19 20 gonna do, right? 21 (Pause) 22 MR. SCHNEIDER: We don't. 23 THE COURT: So, you're asking him to decide.... 24 MR. SCHNEIDER: I know what issues....

(Indiscernible - multiple voices)

THE COURT: .... want us to decide that before the IBLA 1 decides? And say, "well, you know, if they de-certify (sic), uh, 2
 3
       Leisnoi, this is the remedy.
 4
           MR. SCHNEIDER: I -- uh, well -- there are certain things we did ask about what to do. Judge Singleton decided not to do them. But that is one of the points, is that there are multiple 6 7
 5
      issues in this case that have not been decided by the Trial Court, that the Trial Court has not purported to decide, that he 8
      -- that have not been asserted or -- or sent to the agency.

10
           THE COURT: And they aren't right for deciding now, are 11 they?
           MR. SCHNEIDER: And they're not right for deciding now.
12
      They -- he only pitched part of the ball to the administrative

           MR. SCHNEIDER: There is.....
           THE COURT: .... Before -- before the, uh, IBLA renders its 20
      new decision is there? There's nothing in the District Courts.
21
      I know that what the District Court does, necessarily, depends on 22 how the IBLA decides.
23
24
           MR. SCHNEIDER: Judge, let me tell you why, in general, have issues to address in this case no matter what the 4 administrative agency does.

  5
                                         There

       on April 1, 1970, something that they don't even argue, that 11 might put a stake in our heart. But, otherwise, we're back, and 12 we're back with lots to talk about. And that's the procedural 13 posture of the case. The harm in question continues. Um, we 14 would like an opportunity -- we've not had an opportunity to 15 16
      brief this, so I guess I'd like to know what The Court's pleasure is. I'd like to argue the matter. Now, if Your Honors want us

THE COURT: We've conferred with Judge Singleton and asked him what his intention was when he set the matter back to the IBLA. He told us his intention was to send the entire case back, and to await the agency's decision. With that, after the panel has conferred, we all agree that this case is now moot. So that is the judgement of The Court, and that'll conclude this matter and for this calendar The Court will stand in recess. (Court Recessed)
